

The greatest trait of the reader is that he knows what he knows not.

Ambiguity is the sharpest weapon in the artist's arsenal.